Near-Crash Halts World Hop

Norman Baker (HIMSELF)

MOONEY—the injustice of this famous trial may now come to light — the Wickersham law enforcement commission has done GOOD WORK—the time has come — if we wish to ward off a revolution — to give laborers and farmers JUSTICE—Cedar county recently had a near demonstration of unfairness by the compulsory medics trying to take their cattle—labor leaders have been jailed—men and women who dare to tell the people the truth—ARE PERSECUTED—they did all those things in RUSSIA—IN SPAIN—to-day they stand in a condition of CHAOS—let's awaken to the real situation before something happens in America—Justice—Mooney was railroaded to prison—it is causing him his death, and anyone who is familiar with the high handed manner in which that case was handled will complain of the INJUSTICE—freedom of speech is in our constitution, but it seems as though it applies only to Wall street—they are never arrested for peddling on the street corners their war propaganda and otherwise.

BIRD CHANGE—when I was a kid, the bird nests I found were made of horse hair—this hair formed a great part of the building—the hair practically passed away—the hair could not be found on every wire farm fence—and the bird had to change his tactics—that's why you now find many nests with string and such soft bedding in it—the bird and every other living, breathing thing must change to meet progress.

DROUGHT—not only affects the farmer's crops—it costs Uncle Sam's money also—it increases the cost of fighting forest fires about $9,000 daily—that's a lot of money—more taxes shot—$9,000 daily soon counts into the hundreds of thousands.

BOASTFUL — and they have a right to be—the Havasupai Indians who live on their reservation in the Grand Canyon National Park, boast that not one of their tribe was ever killed by a white man—they are lucky—every other tribe of people that had money or property which the white man wanted HAS BEEN KILLED—money causes murder—just last week a gentleman came to me with papers showing how the oil companies of Texas, cheated an Indian out of millions in property—worth a few dollars then—worth millions now because one flowing well on it has been flowing for 16 years—he wanted me to finance the lawsuit to recover—to recover from millionaires is a hard job—about as much justice could be expected as recently shown in supreme courts and radio commissions.

JUSTICE—speaking of justice — a Texas county has elected a judge who is not and never has been a lawyer—there may be more sense in doing that than you would think at first—whether they intend to do it, or not many judges seem to become very technical and JUSTICE is downed by TECHNICALITIES — there is no reason why a smart LAYMAN could not decide cases as well as some JUDGES—anyway it is going to be interesting to see how the Texas LAYMAN JUDGE works — I'll bet he will be popular.

CHILDREN'S BUREAU at Washington—says it is a mistake to "make little misers out of children"—referring to penny savings banks—That is certainly FALSE PROPAGANDA—if this country is having any TROUBLE financially a lot of it is because children are NOT TAUGHT to SAVE when they are small—You can't teach THRIFT to many GROWNUPS — habits are formed when your BRAIN is YOUNG and the OLDER you get the harder it is to CHANGE—especially to form new GOOD HABITS.

BOMB EXPLODES WITHIN GARDEN OF THE VATICAN

Mussolini Believes Act
Is the Work of
His Foes

BY GUGLIELMO EMANUEL
ROME (INS)—And ingeniously constructed time bomb, believed to have been planted by anti-Fascist agitators, exploded with a terrific detonation in the gardens of the Vatican early today, awakening Pope Pius XI. from his sleep and causing alarm among the Papal guards entrusted with the safe keeping of his holiness.

The infernal machine had been placed in the ancient church of St. Peter's, shrine of Catholicism, near the tomb of Pope Clement XIII. and it exploded in the edifice, it would have severely damaged it not wrecked the ancient church.

Mussolini Orders Probe
Believing the bombing was the work of his enemies who sought to weaken the Fascist regime and widen the breach between church and state, Premier Benito Mussolini ordered a searching investigation of the affair and was ready to prosecute to the full extent of the law the person or persons found responsible for the outrage.

The bomb, a cylindrical affair equipped with a clockwork device and weighing twenty-nine ounces, was discovered in the church late last night by one of the sextons of St. Peter's. Covered with yellow paper to disguise its purpose, the bomb lay close to one of the massive pillars supporting the dome of the church and only a few feet from the tomb of Pope Clement.

Sexton Finds Package
The sexton was making his regular round of the church when he noticed the suspicious looking package. Recognizing at once that it was a bomb, he took it in his hands and rushed out of the edifice, depositing the package in an outlying part of the gardens where its explosion could do the least damage.

Hardly had the Vatican authorities of the discovery when the bomb exploded with a terrific roar. The blast tore a huge hole in the ground of the garden, uprooting beautifully cultivated plants and flowers and hurling fragments of its shell for a considerable distance.

ALLEGED KILLER FREE ON BONDS

Wife Accused of the Slaying of Husband
Is at Liberty

CHICAGO (INS)—Arrested for manslaughter in connection with the fatal shooting of her husband, Harold, the hearing of Mrs. Hazel Scott, 33 today was continued until July 24 and her bond fixed at $10,000.

The comely matron's husband, a chemist, was shot to death in their home in Oak Park yesterday. Police questioned the woman through most of last night. She was put under the lie detector machine and questioned for hours but continued to maintain that her husband took his own life as the climax of a series of quarrels over her asserted attitude toward other men.

The quarrel, she said, occurred following a roadside party. Police said that Mrs. Scott's story of the shooting told at the inquest varied in several details from that she told immediately after the death of her husband.

BLISTERING SUN BAKES MIDWEST Rain Is Forecast, May Give Relief from Heat

By International News Service
Predictions of scattered showers brought a word of cheer today to many parts of a heat-stricken nation that has suffered for four days under a blistering hot sun.

Thirty-two deaths caused by heat prostrations and drowning were reported during the past 24 hours in the middle west and east. Hundreds of heat prostrations, however, were expected to swell the toll.

Temperatures in the middle west generally hung about the 100 degree mark, and a hot, searing wind from the Nebraska prairies made the heat more oppressive.

Weather forecasters at Chicago predicted that cooling showers would come tonight or tomorrow to bring relief to many sections of the upper plains states.

Scattered storms in Ohio brought a degree of relief to parts of that state where eight persons have died since yesterday due to the heat, drownings and lightning.

While the rest of the country was baking the Pacific coast area was enjoying fair weather, Arizona temperatures soared however, the mercury reaching 106 at Phoenix and 102 at Tucson.

RICH MAN DIES IN HIS BATHTUB

Drinking Party Is Believed Cause of Death

RALEIGH, N. C. (INS)—The body of B. Madry Hart, 45, wealthy cotton manufacturer of Tarboro, was found in the bathroom of his suite at the Carolina hotel here today.

The discovery was made following a fire which burned over his room. He was found lying in the bathtub, only partly clad. Coroner L. M. Waring started an investigation at once.

Evidence indicated, according to Coroner Waring, that Hart had been drinking heavily, and had participated in an all-night party with several other persons.

Two young women, who occupied a room next to Hart's were ordered held for the coroner's inquest this afternoon. They were Julia Clark, of Kingston, and Norma Brewster of Tarboro.

The discovery was made following a fire which burned over his room.

CITY COUNCIL OKEHS ACTIONS OF COMMISSION

All Appointments to Civil Service Are
Also Approved

Appointments of the civil service commission made recently by the mayor and also the action of the commissioners up to the present time, were approved by the city council at its regular meeting Thursday evening. The motion to approve the appointments and action of the commissions was made by Alderman Albert Stolzenau of the third ward and seconded by Alderman Edward D. Horst of the second ward. It passed unanimously.

This was practically the only action of importance taken by the council. Other than the acceptance of various city officials' reports; instructions to the city marshal to serve notices on a dozen or so property owners to have the weeds on their land cut, and to the street commissioner to improve crossings and streets in various parts of the city, there were few matters to come before the aldermen.

In the absence of Mayor Thompson, Alderman A. E. Othmer of the second ward acted in his place.

Library Asks Appropriation

A request for a $14,000 appropriation for the P. M. Musser public library made by Irving B. Richmond, one of the directors. Two thousand dollars of this money, he said, was to be used to replace money spent in having the foundation and walls of the building repaired. The rest would be used for current expenses.

It developed in the discussion that the work of repairing the building was done on a percentage basis, but Mr. Richmond declared that the work required men with skill in this particular line of labor and none could be found in the city.

The matter was deferred until the next meeting of the council, which will be on August 6.

A representative of the E. & J. Corporation of Chicago, manufacturers of resuscitators, addressed the aldermen with a view of securing the city's order for a machine.

WEALTHY BRIDE ON HONEYMOON

Wisconsin's Richest
Girl Unworried by
Extortion Plot

BELOIT, Wis. (INS)—Wisconsin's richest girl, Florence Argall Yates, now here on her honeymoon, was not worried by a threatening note received yesterday by her father, Rockford, Ill., and Beloit authorities lay in wait all Wednesday night, trying to trap the would-be extortionists.

A not demanding the money, signed by the "big eight" gang was received Wednesday by Miss C. Haskins, Miss Yates' elderly chaperon after a threatening note had been received a couple of days earlier. Rockford, Ill., and Beloit authorities lay in wait all Wednesday night, trying to trap the would-be extortionists.

Police of Beloit and the sheriffs of Winnebago county, Illinois and Lake county, Wisconsin, as well as the family all tried to keep the incident a secret. The Beloit State Savings bank where Miss Yates' vast fortune is in trust also joined in this attempt.

Miss Yates was the sole heiress of $20,000,000 left by her father who was head of the Yates American Machine company makers of wood-working machinery.

They came down in the cornfield to prevent injury to farmers gathered in a cleared space nearby, the red-winged plane bending its proper and damaging a landing wheel in doing so.

Emerging from the plane unhurt but with tears in their eyes that they had failed to reach Budapest, their goal when it was almost in sight, the fliers were warmly welcomed by the farmers.

Nations of World Launch Measures to Aid Germany In Her Economic Plight

Representatives of the Allied Countries
Enter Parley

By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS
LONDON (INS)—Undaunted by the former allied nations to pull Germany out of its economic crisis were launched today at a conference of political and financial experts at the British treasury.

With ambassador Hugh Gibson attending as unofficial observer on behalf of the United States, representatives of Britain, France, Italy, Japan and Germany gathered "to examine details arising from suspension of war debt payments under the Hoover moratorium and its connection with the Young plan."

The discussions were aimed at laying the groundwork for the extraordinary conference of ministers summoned by prime minister J. Ramsay MacDonald to meet in London Monday evening. With secretary of state Henry L. Stimson ordered by President Hoover to attend on behalf of the United States, Monday's conference will signalize America's first official participation in a conference of European statesmen of such a broad political scope since the signing of the treaty of Versailles.

German Loan Discussed
Among the matters discussed by the experts was a projected international loan of $500,000,000 to Germany to end the grave crisis caused by flight of foreign capital from that nation.

Indications were that France was displaying a more conciliatory attitude and it was believed the French government would signify its willingness to lessen the economic demands imposed upon Germany in exchange for a more lenient credit policy. Chiefly because of the unexpected and all-important official participation of the United States in the conference of ministers, the British press displayed a far more hopeful tone today, although some sections remained apprehensive of the outcome unless speedy measures were decided upon.

"The conference will fall unless rapid practical decisions are taken," declared the London Times.

LAST OF CAPONE GUNMEN SOUGHT

All But One of Al's
Gang Indicted by Government

CHICAGO (INS)—With the indicting of Teddy Newberry Capone gangster in charge of north, side liquor distribution, for conspiracy to violate the liquor law, all but one of Al Capone's "Scarface" Al of public enemy caliber today has felt the blow of federal authority.

"Duke" Cooney, south side vice lord, is the remaining one of the Capone outfit which the government has not indicted.

"Scarface" Al himself, pleaded guilty to conspiracy to violate the prohibition law as well as the income tax law and will be sentenced July 30.

Newberry and four other Capone henchmen have been indicted with seventeen others in connection with a huge distillery near Carbon Cliff in Rock Island county. They will be arraigned before Judge Louis Fithenry, at Peoria, Ill.

The 2,500 gallon still, the largest ever found in Illinois, was installed in a slaughter house and rendering plant on the Janckee farm. Agents found 50 boilers and 1,000 gallons of alcohol in the plant, which had a daily capacity of 2,000 gallons.

Newberry had long been identified with Chicago gang life. He formerly was aligned with the Moran-Allelo-Zuto gang, but after the 24 Valentine's day massacre and the slayings of Jack Zuts and Joe Aiello he fled to the protecting arms of the Scarface chief.

ARGENTINE QUAKE TAKES ONE LIFE

BUENOS AIRES (INS)—One person was killed and many injured by the severe earthquake shock that rocked the town of Latatunga in Ecuador, according to advice received here today.

Relief trains are rushing to the scene from Quito.

PLANE UNABLE TO LIFT HUGE LOAD OF FUEL

Fliers Plan Globe Hop
—May Take Off
Again Today

By JAMES L. KILGALLIN
NEW YORK (INS)—Undaunted by the near-crash of their plane at Roosevelt Field in an unsuccessful take off this morning, Hugh Herndon, Jr., and Clyde Pangborn, veteran barnstorm aviators, propose to hop off again today on their projected flight around the world.

"Off to Moscow via Harbor Grace, N. F." is their program and they intend to go through with it without delay. Moscow is the first of four planned stops after they soar over the Atlantic on their globe-girdling flight.

Almost Crash Up
The intrepid airmen almost cracked up early today when they attempted to carry a load of 8,230 pounds into the air. The big plane with its heavy burden, which included 830 gallons of gasoline, got off to an awkward start down the mile-long runway. It raced at high speed for some distance before it wobbled clumsily from the ground.

Spectators held their breath as it headed straight toward a hangar without attaining the much altitude. There was a sign of relief when it barely cleared the hangar. A stream of gasoline, hastily jettisoned, poured from the plane. Pangborn, who was at the controls, finally maneuvered the plane into a nearby field to a safe landing.

Pangborn Congratulated
As Pangborn stepped from the cockpit of the plane, Captain J. Nelson Kelly, manager of the field said:

"Nice work, Pang." The flier thanked him and declared that they would make another attempt to take off this afternoon or tonight.

"This weather is too good to miss," he said.

Aviators Skeptical
Aviators skeptical from the first that the monoplane would take off loaded so heavily with gasoline watched with bated breath the attempt of Pangborn to lift the ship into the air.

Pangborn tried every trick known to fliers, to get the ship into the air during the mile long run down the famous runway.

The runway extends down Roosevelt Field No. 1 and then there is a twenty-foot drop to Roosevelt Field No. 2.

Plane Traveling 80 Miles Hour
The plane was traveling at an estimated speed of 80 miles an hour when it came to the end of the runway and dropped down the gully. It was only at the field thought the ship had crashed and made a dash for the gully. Two ambulances rolled across the field. The twenty foot drop gave the plane sufficient speed for the clever Pangborn to avert tragedy and keep it in the air until he could land it safely on field No. 2.

Pangborn said they would have kept on except that it had been necessary to jettison all the reserve gasoline to lighten the ship in order that it could clear some old wooden hangars in the path of the plane.

The tragedy was witnessed by Herndon's mother, Mrs. Dixon Boardman, and his fiancée Miss Eileen Farley of Albany, N. Y.

To Have Woods Cut

The council also passed a resolution to instruct city property owners to have the weeds cut on their land.

Hahn to the effect that the Hahn Produce company was contemplating the removal of its scales and making that arrangements be made whereby all regular loads should be weighed on the city scales at the usual charge of 10 cents each, and all carload shipments should be weighed at 5 cents each, brought forth considerable discussion. Alderman Edward Burns, of the third ward, moved that all companies using the city scales be charged the usual rate of ten cents. It was announced that the Hahn Produce company had agreed to weigh all carload shipments at the usual rate of ten cents.

No action was taken on Alderman Burns' motion, but the matter was referred to the city attorney.

These remaining days of the big first period afford time for all candidates, as well as those who are still thinking about entering the campaign, to accomplish their objective. After Monday, July 27th, the second period vote schedule will be in effect and all subscriptions turned in after Monday will be credited with a lesser amount of votes.

The race is so close that almost everything depends upon what is accomplished this coming week—the last opportunity for big votes.

Turn to the campaign, display space in this issue and read how rapidly subscriptions count up in votes up to July 27th. Make your pencil figure it out for yourself. You can "cinch" the gift of your choice on this big first period schedule. The subscriptions you secure the best week will mean more to you than they would if secured at any later time in the campaign. This is the time then for action.

In order that the work of the W. B. A. may be more clearly understood the national officers have prepared the following account of the organization. "The Women's Benefit association was founded October 11, 1892 by its supreme president, Bina West Miller, who has guided its progress with a steady hand ever since. From a small beginning it has grown into a mighty institution. The largest, safest and strongest fraternal benefit society in the world composed exclusively of women. It has a benefit fund of thirty million dollars, enough to provide adequate reserve for every member. It is over 100 per cent solvent."

Once more we find pink and blue holding the center of the fashion stage for these combined shades seem to have an especial affinity for youthful women. A charming illustration of putting these colors together most successfully is seen in evening frocks of pale pink chiffon over which are worn short little wraps of turquoise blue chiffon velvet. Sometimes also there is a dash of blue satin or velvet.

Line Overalls
Short line overalls are a happy choice for the girl twelve or less who is at camp. They come in pretty shades of green, yellow, blue and natural, reach just to the knees, and have the typical overall top with cross-shoulders in the back which permit sufficient sunburn.

Week-end Coolers
They were intended for those who expect to spend week-ends on motor trips but they are excellent for camps or cottages where ice supply is limited. These Thermos jars which come in different colors are large enough to hold a good supply of butter milk and eggs and keep them cool for more than twenty-four hours.

Also For The Camp
Table runners, mats and napkins of gay striped Basque lines are splendid for camp use as they are so easy to launder and are so colorful.

Glass From China
The loveliest bowls come from China and are made of exquisite translucent glass in shades of deep amber or turquoise. They are delicately fluted around the sides and rest on carved teak wood stands. They are perfect for a room that needs a different note of color.

Shoulders Seen In Midsummer Wear in Paris

By ALICE LANGELIER

PARIS (INS)—Shoulders are showing shapely interest on all new midsummer wear being seen in the capital. Rarely exposed, even with the most formal evening gowns, they seem to take on fresh beauty cleverly draped to reveal their lines.

Transparent effects take on the look of cape-sleeves in the shape of amusing little scarves to wear with semi-formal dinner-gowns. They come in vivid contrasting hues or soft pastel tones. One in geranium-red chiffon velvet has the lining in white moire embroidered in gold. Hand-painted velvet that sparkle in the night light cover many pretty shoulders this summer.

A pale rose crepe georgette has a smart burgundy velvet capelet to match the little wisp of train of the tissue bordered with the same and a lovely dance-dress in white georgette has an exquisite black Chantilly lace shoulder wrap.

Helen Yrlande puts a shoulder-jacket of black velvet, semi-fitted and with floating sleeves over a white satin gown, and a short pale diving lame has a velvet cape, dipping in the centre-back and turning into a short-sleeved coatlet in front.

A smart shoulder innovation in the white ermine bolero suggesting the new Etan line, with fitted sleeves to the elbow, accompanying an evening-dress of palest gray crepe Mongol.

The Evening Story

THE PEARL HEART

By Laura Reid Montgomery

Mary's eyes gleamed as she peered down at the big boat loafing through the open bridge on its way to Lake Michigan. On the broad deck lounged a man who reminded her of Jack Desmond; he was scribbling in a notebook, apparently unaware of the observers above who watched the tug conveying the big boat.

Later, speeding to make up for the time lost at the bridge, she saw none of the fields of cabbage that bordered the state roads leading into Milwaukee, for she was mentally reliving a past. She and Jack had been tacitly engaged when a trifling dispute had become a real quarrel. She learned the next day that he had gone away on a freighter.

She had had a proposal—a clerk in the publishing office—but she shouldn't forget Jack, although she knew she was foolish, for she was essentially a home girl and preferred housekeeping to selling educational books on monthly payments.

The daily unfolding of some highly colored specimen leaves came to be a distasteful task. Sam bored her to tears. He was different from the jolly saucy Jack, and when the little clerk imparted to her his longing for adventure she felt like screaming. He memorized phrases concerning the high seas and mentioned the wash of the waves beneath the decks, not omitting the cliché concerning the tang of the sweet salt air. Poor Sam, with his thick spectacles and the stammer that caught him when most in earnest! She couldn't marry him, even though he would be a good provider.

Jack, too, had yearned for untold trails, but he had followed his thoughts bodily, he had not merely dreamed. She longed to see the frosted blue of the teasing eyes between the black lashes.

In childhood they had argued fiercely over their respective heroes and heroines. Mary admired Mary Queen of Scots and Jack, Lord Byron. She still treasured a little pearl locket, heart-shaped, which held a grubby bit of paper with "Calais" written in her childish scrawl. It was the name of the town where she still treasured a little pearl locket, heart-shaped, which held a grubby bit of paper with "Calais" written in her childish scrawl.

"When I die the name 'Calais' will be found engraved upon my heart," she still treasured a little pearl locket, heart-shaped, which held a grubby bit of paper with "Calais" written in her childish scrawl.

He heard the familiar giggle near. "I'll say he's a fast worker for a poet. I slapped him good and plenty, though. I'd call him a pirate instead of a poet."

Jack slipped through the shadows and caught her. "You are Mary?"

"I'm Mary's kid sister, Maggie. What's it to you?"

"A lot, I'm her old sweetheart. Sorry I kissed you by mistake, but I've kissed you when you were small and probably shall again."

"Let's go. We'll stop for a five-pound box of candy on the way, oh, queen."

"A bargain," and the royal Maggie accompanied the red-headed poet to the shabby boarding-house.

GOOD COMPANION NOT ALWAYS TRUE LOVE—TELL THE TRUTH FOR PEACE OF MIND

Dear Virginia Vane: Can anybody understand men? I thought I did. Several boys have proposed to me and I've always thought I understood them so well that I could tell whether they were really in love or not but now I've been disappointed in love just like anyone else. The perfect complement for my nature. And we have similar tastes. And for two years we have been working together in our neighborhood theatricals in our neighborhood.

We have shared enthusiasms, disappointments, and always remained the best of friends. A dozen times I've thought he was on the verge of proposing to me and always I've been disappointed. Now our work is very nearly finished, and already he is interested in another girl—a frisky type of butterfly who wouldn't help him in anything he undertook. I know that he loves me. I know that our tastes are absolutely similar. Why should he suddenly lose interest in me?

Because he never did have the sort of interest in you which you so confidently expected. Because you mistook companionship for a case of real love. Companionship is the best basis in the world for a successful marriage but unfortunately if it hasn't a good bit of love attached, it's an absolute waste.

You've been too hopeful because I have probably been more attentive, admiring and devoted than he realized—sheerly out of his love for me. He found you the most helpful companion in the world, and he took it for granted that you met him on the same impersonal basis, as he himself had established with his own mind.

Don't be too bitter about it. He probably didn't encourage you at all. It never occurred to him that you were founding a romance on the work you did together. And now that the job is nearly at an end, he no longer feels the need of your constant companionship—so he turns his mind to more romantic matters. Possibly he's chosen a much less suitable companion than yourself—but the point is that he's chosen her, and that he may find more reason to be sentimental about a frisky-haired little idiot who ignores his work, than a good pal who appreciates and understands him.

Don't make your head ache trying to think these things out. Love isn't an easy matter to do up.

Bridge-Auction and Contract

By the Authority MILTON C. WORK

CONTRACT BRIDGE

With the above hand at Contract Bridge South would be in some doubt as to what to declare. He has terrific strength—a No Trump contract of 26 with four Aces in the hand; but the Diamond suit has only one stopper although it contains four cards. The hand falls just short of the 27 - with every suit-stopped requirement for a bid of four No Trumps, so South should bid three; and the result proves the wisdom of the restrictions imposed upon such a bid.

A South using the artificial two-Club bid has ample strength to make that declaration; but there would not be much immediate advantage in doing so because he would know before-hand, having four Aces in his own hand, that North would have to answer with two Diamonds.

If the two-Club bid were made (West and East always passing) North would answer with the artificial two Diamonds, South would bid two No Trumps, and North—with two stoppers in Spades—would show that suit in case that was the one in which South needed assistance. South then would bid three No Trumps and that would end the contracting. Therefore South would be playing with a three No Trump contract in any event.

When the hand was played, West led a Diamond; South held up the third round, led his two high Spades and followed with four rounds of Clubs. After that he led his Ace of Hearts and another West, which West won and cashed his two remaining Diamonds, saving game.

The Declarer who played the hand overlooked a sure and simple play. After he had taken his Spades and Clubs, he would have in hand seven tricks, needing two more for game. He would know that West had two more Diamonds and South consequently should have led a Diamond, allowing West to win two more tricks, South discarding a small Heart on the second. Then no matter what West won and cashed his two remaining Diamonds, game would be assured. If West led a Spade, dummy would take the remaining tricks; if he led a Heart, it would be up to closed hand's Ace-Queen.

LOVE'S PRISONER

asks me for a date I'll swoon away from sheer astonishment and not recover until too late to go," she said.

"Bad as that? He's not married, is he?" Frances was anxious, she had seen too many girls fall in love with married men and make a mess of it to want any such fate for Beth, however much fun it might be for a little while.

"No, he's not married," Beth had extracted that much information indirectly from Miss Smith.

"While he's single then there's hope," quoth Ned. "Frances got me, you know."

Miss Gibbons

Reluctantly the two girls packed all the lovely clothes away, and although Beth declared again and again that there was no chance of her wearing them, she couldn't help dreaming of herself at home that night as going out with Philip Dane, arrayed in the splendor of that green velvet afternoon dress.

The hope stayed with her the next morning and made her look more intently than usual at Philip when he came in.

"Good morning, Miss Shannon. Very nice," said Beth demurely. "I visited some young married friends."

"So? I went hunting, ducks out at Montauk Point, Colo. as the ducks were good fun and we had a hilarious time around the fire in the evening. Do you like open fires, Miss Shannon?"

"I'd like them if I had a chance," Beth said. "I haven't been in a place where there was one since I was a little girl."

"Too bad—they're hand-warming and heart-warming. Well, I suppose there's the usual blue Monday mail to be done. You might skip over to the book shop and get those two new books just out on aviation some time today."

Miss Smith came into the office. "Miss Gibbons phoned, Mr. Dane. She said she would be in for lunch, and wanted me to ask you to be sure to be ready."

"Oh—yes. Never mind about the books, then Miss Shannon. I'll be going over that way myself at noon and I'll pick them up."

Beth wondered a little about this Miss Gibbons who was coming to lunch with Philip, but she didn't worry much. Her thoughts of Philip were so confined to the office, so bounded by the world of business that engulfed them, that any one outside of that part of his life entered hardly at all into her dreaming.

But later that morning Miss Smith stopped by her desk for a chat.

"You want to keep your eyes open around noon," she said, "if you want to see the prettiest debutante of the season, according to the papers."

"Who is that?" Beth asked.

"This Carolina Gibbons that's coming in to lunch with Mr. Dane. She's been in once or twice before, and honestly she is exquisite. Heavenly clothes, of course, and they don't come any prettier. She's fairly fond of Mr. Dane too, I think."

"Does he care for her?" Beth asked, feeling as though an iron band had been wound tightly around her heart.

"I'm not sure—he's always awfully glad to see her. I rather have an idea they're engaged but not ready to announce it yet. She's the only girl he ever pays any attention to that I know of. He's had her order theater tickets for them, or buy flowers for her once or twice. At any rate she's coming in today and you can see for yourself whether you think a man would find her attractive."

Beth got very little work done the rest of that morning. She stacked books on her desk, opened magazines, and read the same newspaper clipping over eight times. Her hands were cold and her face was hot and she was glad Miss Smith was too busy with the Monday correspondence to pay any particular attention to her. She wanted to go to lunch early so that she could keep her dream of Philip intact. If she didn't see this girl she wouldn't seem so real. But an unhealthy fascination kept her in the office. She couldn't go. Unwillingly she had to stay and see for herself.

It was just one when the door opened and a whiff of fragrance unmistakably French, faint but lovely, made Beth turn her head. Framed in dark fur was a face young and fair and eager. The skin was dazzlingly blond, the hair that showed under the blue velvet toque a burnished yellow, the girl's figure tall and slender and graceful.

"May I see Mr. Dane, please?" asked a voice, silvery sweet. "I am Miss Gibbons. We are to lunch together."

Beth rose. "I'll tell him you are here," she said. Her throat was dry, her head ached with a dull pain, something in her seemed to gasp and cry aloud for breath. Never in her life had Beth felt so small and plain and insignificant as in the minute it took her to arrive at the door of Philip's private office.

With her hand on the knob she took one more look at the loveliness the beauty enhanced by every article in the way of smart clothes and careful grooming that money could buy, she waited for him. Then, with a kind of cold despair, she pushed the door open and said to him in what she hoped was her natural voice, "Miss Gibbons is waiting, Mr. Dane."

ELKS TAKE LEAD IN AMERICAN KITTENBALL LEAGUE

PACE SETTERS DEFEAT KAUTZ TEAM, 4 TO 3

About 1,000 Fans See
Elks Turn Tables
On Doughboys

By SPIKE LIEBKE
It was a fine exhibition of kittenball that was staged at the Jefferson field Thursday evening when the Elks and Kautz American league teams hooked up in the second of their crucial games. It was only after a furiously fought battle that the Elks, out of the gate, emerged the victor, 4 to 3, the same margin by which they were defeated by the doughboys two weeks ago. Approximately 1,000 fans witnessed the heated contest.

The victory gave the Elks clear leadership with the Kautz team in second place and the Bankers in third.

Kautz Knot Count

C. Kautz opened the inning with a perfectly placed bunt down the third base line. Volger fielded the ball but the runner had crossed the sack and when Volger threw wild to first Kautz went to second. The next batter rounded to the pitcher, Kautz holding second, later advancing to third on a wild pitch. Goetzman then cracked out his third hit to score Kautz with the tying run.

The Elks players came back in their half of the fifth with the winning tally. Volger the first man up grounded out to the short stop. W. Nietzel cracked out his second hit of the game, a single to left. Bentley, who followed him, hit into what looked like was going to be a double play, but instead both runners lived whittled down the ball. A Nietzel then hit to left, scoring his brother Bill with the needed run.

Goetzman hitting star
Goetzman of the doughboys was the hitting star with three hits in as many times up. Bill Nietzel pounded out a double and a single and scored two runs for the winners, while Bill Volger hit a long triple in the first inning, scoring the first Elks run.

In other games Thursday night, the Hawke team won its Factory league engagement from the Post office crew in a contest on the new diamond at Weed park, 11 to 2, while the Prima Special Brewers continued their onslaught through opposition by downing the Freightmen on the old diamond at Weed park, 14 to 6. The Prima team scored 9 runs in the fifth inning.

Two games will be played this evening, the Journal and Heinz "57" club team mixing at the Jefferson field in an American league engagement while the Iowa Metal Works-McKee team will be played under the floodlights at the Jefferson field tonight. Box score of Elks-Kautz contest:

'BUNNY' AUSTIN DEFEATS WOOD

British Tennis Star Is Winner in Davis
Cup Opener

Frank X. Shields defeated the brawny British star, Fred Perry, 10-8, 6-4, 6-2 to even the score after his fellow American, Sidney B. Wood, youthful Wimbledon champion, had bowed to H. W. (Bunny) Austin, 2-6, 6-0, 8-6, 7-5, in the first match.

ROLAND GARROS STADIUM, PARIS — (INS) — Great Britain drew first blood in the Davis cup inter-zone final matches with the United States today when H. W. (Bunny) Austin, king-pin of the British squad, defeated Sidney B. Wood, youthful Wimbledon champion, 2-6, 6-0, 8-6, 7-5 in the opening fray.

The young American player put up a valiant fight after taking the first set with ease, but Austin's unanny placements and brilliant service baffled him and put him off his game. The last two sets were bitterly contested, Wood pulling up to Deuce in the last frame after Austin had gained a 4-0 lead. Austin gained this advantage chiefly through Wood's persistent netting and outing, but with certain defeat ahead, the American regained some of his control and with splendid placement shots and service Aces extended his Britisher before giving in 7-5.

Letts Will Tangle With Nichols Team At Jefferson Field

In Muscatine's seventh night kittenball attraction to be staged under the floodlights at the Jefferson field tonight, the Iowa Metal Works will tangle with the McKee team in a Factory league game with the Letts and Nichols teams mixing in another game. The latter two teams have met twice this season and each team has won one game.

DEMPSEY, BROKE PLANS TO MAKE RING COMEBACK

Reno Is Blamed for Financial Failure
Of Fighter

CHICAGO—(INS)—Jack Dempsey is dead broke and badly in need of a million dollars which he hopes to get through a desperate ring comeback, the Chicago Evening American said today in a copyright dispatch from Reno, Nev.

It was Reno, America's new "cradle of liberty," which caused the former heavyweight champion's financial downfall, the Evening American story said.

Dempsey needs a million dollars—and needs it badly, it was said, and the only way he can get it is to fight for it.

The most famous of the ex-champions is desperate. It is altogether likely that he will stage a comeback, the dispatch said.

Dempsey figures he can get a million dollars by raising his finger and indicating he will go for another ring comeback, the American said. Furthermore, Dempsey is $150,000 in debt, it was said.

Where did the money go how the fighter went through a fortune of $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 can be blamed on his extravagant nature. Jack wants to possess everything in sight, it is said. He doesn't wear a single piece of jewelry, but he loves to bedeck others. His lavish gifts to his wife, Estelle Taylor, were said to have been more than $250,000.

Six stock market losses were estimated at $300,000. Friends say that his promotional schemes have cost him more than $300,000. Horse racing and his interests in tracks have cost the "muscle" a fortune. When the switch was made from Tijuana to Agua Caliente, there was a freeze out, and Dempsey participated, only as a stockholder with a white chip.

His betting and his stable with a long Kickapoo as star of the stable, finished Dempsey in his turf operations.

Otto Cain, the one-armed taxi driver of Oolitic, Indiana, despite his physical handicap drives his cab better than the average cab driver. He shifts gears without difficulty, does his own minor repairs jobs, changes tires and collects fares.

According to Murray Wade, publisher of the Oregon Magazine, in a baseball game between the Kirkpatrick of Portland, and Salem, Oregon, played in Salem in 1920, Ducky Holmes knocked a long fly into left field that was headed straight for the fence. Strangely enough, when the ball apparently hit the fence it disappeared completely. Upon investigation it was found that the baseball had gone through a knot hole in the fence, giving Holmes a home run, and Salem the game.

IOWA CITY TO TACKLE LETTS

Two Strong Baseball
Teams Will Clash
Here on Sunday

Muscatine baseball fans will be given an opportunity Sunday afternoon to witness a game at the South End ball diamond between two fast independent clubs from Letts and Iowa City, it marking the first time in many weeks that two teams of fairly high caliber will have shown in the city.

The Letts Independents, with four Muscatine men in the lineup, come here boasting a record of five straight wins and will be out to add the Iowa City team to its list.

Iowa City pitchers, against strong clubs of this vicinity, have won seven victories in the last nine starts. The team carries several University of Iowa stars.

Lefty Heidebaugh will start on the mound for Letts, it being his first start since early in the summer when he was forced to retire due to a sore shoulder. Lefty has pitched some mighty fine ball in Muscatine with the Letts club in the I and I league the past two seasons and if his sore shoulder is in shape, he will give Iowa City plenty of trouble.

The starting lineup for the Letts team follows: Krueger, c; Lefty Heidebaugh, p; Ross, lf; G. Heidebaugh, 3b; Hildebrand, ss; W. Nietzel, 2b; Lane, cf; Mahair, rf; and Dodder, lf. The game is scheduled to get under way at 3 p. m.

BRUINS DEFEAT GIANTS, GAIN SECOND PLACE

5 to 2 Victory Over
New York Puts Cubs
Near the Top

BY COPELAND C. BURG
INS Sports Writer
NEW YORK—Rogers Hornsby may have an ingrowing heel and the same kind of a disposition, but the position of the Chicago Cubs today in the National league fight indicates there's nothing much the matter with his head.

The Cubs whacked the New York Giants on the chin again yesterday, 5 to 2, and moved into second place, six games to the rear of St. Louis, with Mr. Hornsby still playing third and Jurgas at second.

The recent semi-collapse of the Bruins may have been due to the fact Rogers' bum heel was too far gone to permit him to properly play the Keystone bag and, as soon as Hornsby got a hint of that, he was smart enough to recamp his team and move himself to the less-hectic territory.

It is the third running of the classic, the richest three-year old horse race in the world. If eight horses go to the post as seems likely, the race will benefit the winner by $74,650. Blue Larkspur won the first of the series and a pot of $59,900. Gallant Fox cleaned up $64,750 for a little more than two minutes effort last year.

The eight listed as probable starters are: Twenty Grand and St. Brudeaux, the Greentree stable entry, which is expected to be almost prohibitive favorite at the mutual windows; Mate, which owns two victories over the champions, Twenty Grand; Spanish Play, Sil Ashley, Sun Meadow, Joe Bibb and Epiteth. Only Epiteth is really doubtful.

Spanish Play, Chicago-owned horse that won its last race, was the only classic eligible to run yesterday. The winner of the Latoria derby went a mile and quarter, the distance of the classic, in 2:09 and a fraction on a fast track.

Charles Kurtzinger, jockey who has piloted Twenty Grand to his victories in the Woods Memorial, Kentucky derby, Belmont stakes and the Dryver stake, will again be up on the red cyclone that belongs to Mrs. Whitney.

Terry Malley will ride Sirashley for the Belair stud, Louis Schaefer will handle Sun Meadow, Earl Stiefen will be on Joe Bibb and Charlie Landolt will pilot Spanish Play. George Ellis may not be on Mate as A. C. Bostwick has not yet named a rider.

Odds on Twenty Grand are expected to be at even money at race time or at 4 to 5.

IOWA GOVERNOR GIVEN SEVERAL POWERS, DUTIES

Chief Executive Must Be Both Wise and Careful

DES MOINES, Ia.—(INS)—The powers and duties given the governor of Iowa by the state laws in regard to the commutation of sentences, pardons and reprieves not only adds heavy work to the chief executive's duties, but also adds a huge responsibility.

Wise, careful actions on the part of the chief executive in connection with these powers is absolutely necessary and it must be with the greatest care that the governor undertakes these duties.

Has Right to Pardon
For under the statutes of Iowa the governor has the right to pardon convicted men, and the right to change a death sentence to a life sentence.

Conditions under which the governor may pardon a man make his decisions slightly easier since before a convicted person may be pardoned there must be circumstances which justify the pardon.

Any person who is under a suspended sentence may be pardoned by the governor. Any person who has served 12 months of a parole satisfactorily may be pardoned providing the governor is of the opinion that the man will make a worthwhile citizen after the pardon is granted.

In the cases where the person to be pardoned is under a suspended sentence either the governor or the board of parole may begin the action to free the man. Either the board or the governor however, must consult the other, before a pardon can be granted.

Upon receiving recommendation from the board of parole for a pardon the governor may call for all evidence given at the trial of the person. If after his examination of this evidence the governor desires further evidence he may summon witnesses in the case.

May Commute Sentence
In addition to his work in granting pardons, the governor must decide whether or not the person should have his citizenship restored.

The governor is the only person who has the power to commute a death sentence to a life sentence. The warden may postpone an execution if he believes a person insane but only the chief executive can change the sentence.

In this action, too, the chief executive may consult an examination of previous testimony and call witnesses for additional testimony. All papers relative to commutations, pardons and reprieves must be filed in the governor's office and he is required to present to each general assembly a complete report on his actions.

Another important duty of the governor in relation to persons sought by police or held by authorities for removing criminals from Iowa and requesting the return to Iowa or persons held in other states who are sought by Iowa police.

Sunday School Lesson

SOCIAL SERVICE IN THE EARLY CHURCH

Lesson Text—Acts 4:32-35; 6:1-4; 9:36-39; 11 Cor. 9:1-7.

Golden Text—I have shewed you all things, how that so laboring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Primary Topic—Sharing With Friends.

Junior Topic—Sharing With Friends.

Intermediate and Senior Topic—Christians Sharing With Others.

Young People and Adult Topic—The Generosity of the Early Christians.

Social service as such was not a department of church activity. However, the early church was most ready to discharge its social obligations. Members of the body of Christ are sympathetically related.

1. Characteristics of the Early Church (Acts 4:31-35).

1. It was a praying church (v. 31). These early Christians for every need betook themselves to God in prayer.

2. It was a Spirit-filled church (v. 31). When they prayed, the place wherein they were gathered together was shaken and they were all filled with the Holy Spirit.

3. It was a church with a bold testimony (v. 31). The ministers of the early church did not offer any apology for the Bible, but expended their energy in fearlessly preaching it.

4. It was a united church (v. 32). They were all of one heart and soul, they held nothing back from those who had need.

5. It was a generous church (v. 32). They held nothing back from those who had need.

6. Its ministers had a powerful testimony (v. 33). They were all of one heart and soul, they held nothing back from those who had need.

7. Its members had an unblemished character (v. 33). They were all of one heart and soul, they held nothing back from those who had need.

11. Appointment of Deacons (Acts 6:1-4).

1. The occasion (v. 1). The church was threatened with disruption over suspected partiality in the distribution of alms. The Grecians felt discriminated against in that their widows were neglected in the "daily ministrations."

2. The issue met (v. 2-6). A congregational meeting was called, the case laid before the church, and the church requested to select seven men of good report, filled with the Holy Spirit and wisdom to administer the temporalities of the church, leaving the apostles free for prayer and the ministry of God's Word.

3. The ministry of the deacons (v. 7). They looked after the poor, but while distributing alms, they were witnessing for Christ. Social service is a by-product of Christianity and not Christianity itself.

111. The Raising of Dorcas (Acts 9:36-39).

1. Her ministry (v. 36 Cf. v. 39). Her life was full of good works, such as making coats and garments for the poor. Her noble ministry has set in motion countless numbers of needles, and has given incentive to many noble women to follow her example. The good deeds were not merely those which she intended to do, but "which she did."

2. Her death (v. 37). In the midst of a life full of good works she was overtaken by death.

3. Peter sent for (v. 38). In their distress the disciples sent two men urgently to request Peter to come to them. Having heard of the healing of Ananias at Lydda, which was near, they no longer believed that he could restore Dorcas to life.

4. Dorcas raised (vv. 39-41). In answer to Peter's prayer Dorcas was "presented alive to the saints and to the church."

5. The effect (v. 42). So astounding was this miracle that many believed in the Lord.

IV. Ministering to the Saints (II Cor. 9:1-7).

The saints in need were Christians at Jerusalem. Many were impoverished because of embracing Christianity. Sending money to the saints at Jerusalem was an expression of affection on the part of these Gentile Christians for the Jews. As an incentive to giving Paul shows:

1. That the volume of reaping is based upon the volume of sowing (v. 6).

2. There should be a heart purpose (v. 7). This calls for intelligence as to the object in giving.

3. Giving should not be of necessity (v. 7). No particular value accrues to the giver who only responds under pressure.

4. God loves a cheerful giver (v. 7). Right understanding of responsibility toward God with reference to temporal possessions will make giving a glorious privilege.

All Who Come
Christ saith unto him: "All who come unto God by him; and it is best to leave Christ to determine where the utmost lies. What is impossible with men is easy to omnipotent grace."—W. L. Watkinson.

As the Angels Give
If instead of a gem or even a flower, we could cast the gift of love, it would be the heart of a friend, that would be giving as the angels give.—George MacDonald.

IOWAN IS SHOT BY LONE BANDIT

Cedar Rapids Man Is Killed, Woman Is Wounded

CEDAR RAPIDS.—(INS)—Police today are seeking a lone bandit who shortly after midnight this morning shot and killed J. H. Peck, 46, and wounded Miss Rose Zoller in the course of a robbery in a park here.

Peck, Miss Zoller, E. J. Boland and Hazel McMulle, all of Cedar Rapids, were sitting in a parked car in the park when the bandit accosted them. The bandit obtained $40, a diamond ring, wrist watch and a fountain pen from Boland and Miss Zoller and then turned to Peck and Miss McMulle.

Peck resisted the bandit, attempting to strike the latter with a near beer bottle. The bandit shot him through the heart, killing him instantly.

Miss Zoller, who attempted to run around the back of the car, was shot in the abdomen.

The bandit, believed to be the same who earlier in the evening robbed a service station and the home of A. F. Boyson, local jeweler, escaped.

May Honor Dog for His Heroic Rescue

AUBURN, Cal.—(INS)—When "Tut," a police dog, failed to return home his two youthful owners, Billy and Hudson Hatch became worried. They searched for five days with no luck.

Both boys learned from Mrs. L. G. Roberts that her dog, "Nig," just an ordinary house dog, had been acting queerly in the past few days. He roamed away every morning and came home late at night, too tired to play.

Billy and Hudson followed "Nig." He led them to an abandoned mining shaft. The boys made a pitch-pole ladder and entered the shaft. They found "Nig" front feet flying, diving into the debris of a recent cave-in, just as he had been digging for several days.

The boys dug out, and found "Nig" starting but unhurt, a foot beyond "Nig's" front paws.

There is talk in Auburn about pinning a medal on the shaggy little hound dog called "Nig."

MRS. VALLEE LAID AT REST
WESTBROOK, Me.—(INS)—While silent tribute was paid by a throng of townspeople and others, the mother of Rudy Vallee, radio's "vagabond lover" was laid to rest today in Hyacinth's cemetery.

REMEMBER?
Way back when just as big fish were caught by the fellow who had a ten cent pole and a hook with a worm on it—said Eagleback Spruder was the hero of the comics—and good five cent cigars?

Learn to Know the Right Word
By W. C. Nicholson

DID YOU DETECT THEM?
Recently, "The Right Word" has several times allowed "would" to slip by in constructions that should have contained "should" more properly. Did you detect any of them? As this article is being written, several of them have not yet appeared in print. Therefore, please consider this an answer to any one who may detect them later and communicate with the author of this column.

George T. Bruce of Spokane, Wash., writes about one. He says: "There is an old Latin adage: 'Interdum nutat Homerus'; in English: Homer sometimes nods. I wonder if this proverb may apply to the editor of 'The Right Word' when he says in today's installment, 'We would have been sure.' I submit that the context suggests the use of 'should'."

"It is well known that more than half the path of 'shall' and 'will,' and more still in the path of 'should' and 'would,' than in any other by-road of English grammar. I hope the worthy editor will pardon me for drawing his attention to the point I have brought up."

Certainly, Mr. Bruce, and now let me call the attention of readers to another planted mine of "would" which appeared about June 27. The sentence: "Would you like to have an idea as to what this test is going to be?" This should read: "Should you like to have an idea, etc."

Well, Mr. Bruce, if we keep on working with "should" and "would," those who read this column regularly should eventually become well posted on their use.

OPEN FIGHT ON GRASSHOPPERS

State Entomologist Offers Advice to The Farmers

Copies of a circular on grasshoppers and control measures, issued by Dr. C. J. Drake, state entomologist, and Dr. George C. Becker, assistant, of Iowa State college, Ames, to aid farmers in combating grasshoppers this summer, are to be sent to the office of the Muscatine County Farm Bureau.

The circulars will be distributed among all county agents to assist them in demonstrations and other local work, and will be sent to farmers who write to the entomology department requesting it.

Heavy localized infestations of grasshoppers which will do serious damage are expected, according to Dr. Drake. Poisoning will be necessary not only to check the damage this year but to prevent an even more serious infestation in 1932.

Members of the entomology department are giving demonstration in various counties in cooperation with county agents. The cost of the poison mass is about $2 a hundred pounds, which will treat 10 to 15 acres. Farmers may buy poison at a saving through their farm bureau and the Vegetable Growers' Cooperative association.

Where grasshoppers are in alfalfa, Drake suggests cutting all except a few narrow strips. In two or three days the grasshoppers will have collected here and may be poisoned more easily and with less loss.

Last Chance for Big VOTES

Never again during the campaign will it be possible to secure so many votes on subscriptions as between now and Monday night, July 27th. To hold back subscriptions now or to depend on "promises" to subscribe at a later date simply means that you will have to take less votes on such subscriptions. We are putting it up to you fairly and squarely—if you would be declared the winner of one of the big cars or cash prizes, you cannot possibly afford to let this big vote period pass without "casting your hat in the ring" with the "sticktoitiveness" that accomplishes the success of every effort worth while.

ATTEMPTING A TAKE OFF FROM HONG KONG FOR THEIR PACIFIC FLIGHT, THE HAWKS HAVE DIFFICULTY GETTING THE SHIP IN THE AIR, DUE TO ITS HEAVY LOAD, SUDDENLY A LITTLE CHILD RUSHED OUT FROM THE CROWD — DIRECTLY IN THE PATH OF THE HEAVY PLANE —

THAT WAS CERTAINLY A MYSTERIOUS PHONE CALL, JUDY! WHO DO YOU S'POSE, IT COULD HAVE BEEN, AND WHY?

SOME MALICIOUS PERSON JUST TRYING TO BE FUNNY, I GUESS — IT'S AN ODD WORLD.

I SHOULDN'T MEAN TO SHIELD SIDNEY IN THE MATTER — HE MUST BE PUNISHED IF HE CAN BE FOUND — BUT AS LONG AS PAM HAS NO INKLING OF THE AWFUL AFFAIR IT'S BEST SHE NEVER KNOW OF IT!

YOU'RE GETTING ONTO EVERYTHING JUST FINE, JUDY! COLONEL CAREY LIKES YOU, TOO! HE TOLD ME SO YOU'RE ALL OF YOU JUST TOO GOOD AND SWEET TO BE TRUE, PAMELA!

PAM NEVER FOUND OUT ABOUT THE SIDNEY RANDALL PLOT — THE RETURN OF JOHN AT THAT TIME HELPED HER MIND FROM THAT FALSE MESSAGE OF POMEROY'S ACCIDENT, BUT SHE AFTERWARDS WONDERED OFTEN ABOUT IT!

THAT WAS CERTAINLY A MYSTERIOUS PHONE CALL, JUDY! WHO DO YOU S'POSE, IT COULD HAVE BEEN, AND WHY?

Kit Carson—35. The Taking of Sonoma

—By J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

FREMONT RETURNED TO CALIFORNIA WITH HIS LITTLE PARTY OF EXPLORERS TO FIND THAT THE AMERICAN SETTLERS IN THE SACRAMENTO VALLEY HAD RISEN IN REVOLT AGAINST THE MEXICAN GOVERNMENT. THE AMERICANS LOOKED TO FREMONT FOR LEADERSHIP.

A DETERMINED BAND OF AMERICAN PIONEERS GATHERED IN THE SACRAMENTO VALLEY NEAR SUTTER'S FORT. IN JUNE, 1846, THIS FORCE ATTACKED THE SMALL MEXICAN GARRISON AT SONOMA, FIFTY MILES NORTH OF SAN FRANCISCO.

THE POST, WITH ITS DEFENDERS AND A FEW CANNON, QUICKLY FELL INTO THE HANDS OF THE AMERICANS. GENERAL VALLEJO AND TWO CAPTAINS OF THE MEXICAN ARMY WERE AMONG THE PRISONERS.

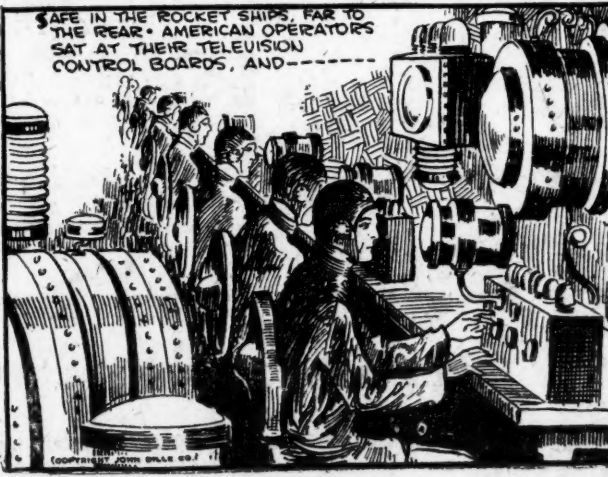

CHEERED BY THIS SUCCESS, THE AMERICANS RAISED THE "BEAR FLAG" AND PROCLAIMED THE CALIFORNIA REPUBLIC.

Hearth-style baking means WELL BAKED Bread!

Old-time bakers knew the advantages of hearth-style loaves—their bread was perfectly baked from crust to heart, just like Butter-Nut Jumbo... the new, ample, family loaf baked by the Butter-Nut Bakers.

The area of baking surface makes the difference between thorough baking and under-baked centers

BUTTER-NUT JUMBO is baked long, wide, and low, so that direct oven heat from the top as well as bottom penetrates every part.

You can tell the difference when you cut Butter-Nut Jumbo. The texture at the center is the same as near the crust. The flavor is better because even, steady heat reaches every tiny cell, releasing all its goodness.

Hearth-flavor, old-style looks; Butter-Nut Jumbo has both. Try it today!
